Rhode Island Republican State Convention

PROVIDENCE, March 11.—The Republican State Convention to-day nominated Governor Howard and all present incumbent of State [illegible] for re-election.

The Union Pacific Board of Directors

NEW YORK, March 11.—The new Board of Directors of the Union Pacific railroad met yesterday in Boston and elected the following: [illegible] President—Sidney Dillon, New York; Vice President—Elisha Atkins, Boston; Treasurer—E. H. Rollins. The Directors ticket elected was a compromise agreed upon. Jay Gould represented New York. The announcement from Boston yesterday of the election of Oliver Ames as President of the Railroad was an error. The following are the Directors: Oliver Ames, John Duff, Elisha Atkins, Sidney Dillon, F. P. Morton, F. G. Gordon Dexter, E. H. Bates, James D. Smith, C. J. Osborne, Geo. S. [illegible], Samuel M. Mills, Jay Gould, E. W. Baker, J. Rollard.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Last Illness of Senator Sumner—His Last Words, "Take Care of the Civil Rights Bill"

WASHINGTON, March 11.—During the last two hours of Senator Sumner's illness his intellect seemed much clearer and he was perfectly conscious to the last. This condition was doubtless the result of his recovery from the effect of morphine administered during the morning. His sufferings toward the last seemed intense and he several times exclaimed, "I want quiet, I am tired." He recognized friends who came into the room. One of the last to whom he spoke was ex-Attorney General Hoar, of Massachusetts, to whom he said: "Take care of the Civil Rights bill." About a quarter before 3 o'clock he was attacked by a slight spasm in which he died. Around the bed at the time were ex-Attorney General Hoar, Dr. W. [illegible] Johnson, of this city, Major Ben Perley Poore, Geo. T. Downing and James Wormsley. Other friends who had been with the dying Senator throughout the day had left just previous, not anticipating that death would occur so soon. Senator Schurz and Montgomery Blair entered the room just as he breathed his last, but Sumner was then too near dissolution to recognize them.

The only relative that Senator Sumner has is a sister who is the wife of a physician in San Francisco and to her the sad news was telegraphed immediately after his death. When the death of Senator Sumner was announced to the crowd that filled the sidewalk in front of the house the grief of many, especially of the colored people, hundreds of whom were gathered there, found vent in heartfelt exclamations. Sumner's age was 63 years, [illegible] months and 5 days. He had been for some time anxious about his health and remarked last night to a friend, some hours previous to the attack which ended in his death, that he wanted to talk to him about his health; he was afraid he was working too hard. The funeral ceremonies will take place in the Senate Chamber, but of course arrangements are not yet completed.

Our Regular Swindle.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Supervising Architect Mullett fully admits that the Government was swindled in the contracts for furnishing stone for the San Francisco Mint, but the records clearly show that local Superintendent Stebbins was alone responsible for accepting stone inferior to that for which the contract called. When Mullett reached San Francisco and saw the stone for himself he immediately denounced the swindle and has ever since urged the Department not to pay another dollar to the contractor, and thus far no settlement has been made with Emory, who admitting that the stone was inferior to the sample claimed that Stebbins insisted on having it from another stratum of quarry than the one from which the sample was taken. Mullett is also opposing inflexibly Emory's claim for $1,000 addition to the $14,000 already paid for flagging. Mullett is unreserved in his denunciation of Emory and other California contractors, who as a class he thinks the most unreliable he ever had to do with. Emory is seeking release from the granite contract for the appraisers stores, but Mullett opposes it because Emory's release would give the contract at higher figures to the next bidder, Frank M. Brown, who, Mullett says, is Emory's partner.

The Liberal Leadership.

LONDON, March 11.—If his health permits Gladstone will resume the leadership of the Liberals in 1875. The members of the late Cabinet held a meeting to-day and at the request of Gladstone agreed to accept the temporary leadership of the Marquis of Hartington. A party of Liberals however propose temporarily to follow the lead of Vernon Harcourt or Robert Lowe.

MADRID, March 11.—Serrano has assumed the supreme command of the forces operating against the Carlists in the north.

GENERAL NOTES

The Kansas Senate has passed a joint resolution submitting the question of woman suffrage to a popular vote.

W. H. Burk, proprietor of the Detroit Commercial Advertiser, has been fined $100 and the costs in four cases and sentence suspended on the fifth, for folding hand bills into his paper. We have cautioned some of our country exchanges in regard to this violation of the law.

Now we know all about it. The Siamese Twins were Xiphopages of the class of Terataanacatadidyma, and may be called, for short, Omphalopagus Xiphodidymus. Popular apostrophe to the Philadelphia faculty in chorus: We thank thee Jew for teaching us that word.

The Mayor of Norfolk, Va., recently received a letter from Atlanta, Ga., inquiring the population of the city, and whether the writer would be permitted to run a keno bank. He said that he could give good references as to character and would be willing to allow the Mayor an interest.

There are rumors of a movement to consolidate all the steamboat lines on the Lower Mississippi into a single joint stock company. This means, if it means anything, a scheme to control the river business and rates of transportation by a single monopoly. If there is any truth in the report the movement is one which will be watched with intense interest by agriculturists and business men of the entire Mississippi Valley. River monopoly is no less a curse than railroad monopoly.

POLITICAL NOTES.

There is a prospect that the Minnesota Legislature may have to sit all summer. Several newspapers having made serious charges against the integrity of the past life of State Senator Ignatius Donnelly, that wordy patriot replies by inviting the fullest examination and by introducing a resolution to investigate the official conduct of every Senator and Representative in Congress from Minnesota for the past ten years.

David A. Gage, the defaulting City Treasurer of Chicago, has made arrangements to turn over to the city some $250,000 in cash and give security for the payment of interest already charged against him on the Controller's books, $133,000, and for the recovery of the moneys deposited in broken banks, about $150,000, which it is supposed will end the criminal prosecution now pending against him, for failing to turn over the $500,000 which he owes the city.

DASTARDLY ATTEMPT TO BURN A SCHOOL HOUSE.—Following appears under a Rochester (N. Y.) date of Feb. 28th: This forenoon a fire was started by an unknown man in [illegible] the second story stairs in Public School house No. 12 on Howell street. The flames were discovered in time to permit of their suppression before damage was done, and before there was any panic. Three hundred children in the upper rooms would have been cut off from escape, except by the windows, if the flames had progressed far. No. 5 Public School House was set on fire Tuesday, but no damage was done.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY'S VOTE.—A Rochester, New York, dispatch of February 25th says: The Eighth Ward Inspectors of Election [illegible] were committed to jail this afternoon in default of the payment of the fine imposed by Judge Hunt of $25 each and costs, [illegible] altogether, for the crime of receiving Susan B. Anthony's vote in the Presidential election in 1872. The Inspectors are determined not to pay the fines.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Last night a twenty mile trotting match was arranged between George Treat's Mattie Howard and Armstrong's John Stewart, for $1,000 aside, race to come off at Oakland Park between the 15th and 18th of next month.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—B. F. Napthaly, former editor of the Sun, was shot at last night by a drunken policeman. Napthaly was not hit, but ran during the shot was fired [illegible] of the Clock fusilade. Napthaly, [illegible] though he did not shoot, was arrested for discharging fire arms in the city limits.

Milton Walker, son of Walker who was killed at Watsonville a few nights since, was arrested to-day for assault on a girl nine years of age with intent to commit rape. He says the charge is false and he will fight it to the bitter end.

Wm. Thomas was arrested to-night for stealing $200 worth of copper sheathing from the brig Tanqua.

The Woman's Temperance Union is holding an executive session to-night. The proceedings are secret thus far.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—Alfred Paraf, of the Oleomargarine Butter Co., has been arrested on complaint of West Evans of the same company, charging him with larceny of a promissory note for $1,000. Case continued for examination in the Police Court.

Interior California.

MARTINEZ, March 12.—Mrs. Jane L. Allen, who was married to David S. Black in this place March 2d, was yesterday examined and found to be insane. She was taken to the asylum at Stockton, of which place she has been an inmate before.

It rained heavily from 9 o'clock last evening till daylight, with a strong north wind.

SANTA CRUZ, March 12.—On the assembling of the County Court this morning the motion for the discharge of Blakely was heard, and District Attorney Craig stated that as it was apparent that a conviction could not be obtained in this county, he would enter a nolle prosequi. On motion of Mr. Skirm, Mr. Blakely was then discharged by the Court and he is now free. This action will meet with the approval of the majority of the citizens.

SACRAMENTO, March 1[illegible].—A large flock of quail, probably driven in by the inclement weather, alighted on the house tops at Sixth and J streets this morning, but was soon driven off by the shower of stones from boys.

An Italian named Giovanni Ferrera came near losing his life in the river last night. He started from Fremont in a duck boat loaded with game at dusk last evening for this city, but before going far a gust of wind capsized his boat in the swift current. He succeeded in grasping the boat, being unable to swim, or to get the boat out of the stream. He clung to it until daylight this morning, when a turn in the river sweeping the boat near the bank, he managed to grasp the overhanging bushes and drew himself out more dead than alive from cold and fear.

The eastern train arrived here at 5 this evening, having been detained by snow in the mountains.

EMIGRANT GAP, March 1[illegible].—A snow plow and five engines are off the track one mile west of Blue Canyon, two engines off badly. Storming hard and no trains expected to get through to-night.

COLFAX, March 12.—Raining; wind south.

DUTCH FLAT, March 12.—Raining, calm.

EMIGRANT GAP, March 12.—Snowing, calm. Nearly two feet of snow has fell since last night.

CISCO, March 12.—Snowing, wind south west; thirty inches of fresh snow.

SUMMIT, March 12.—Snowing hard, south wind; three and a half feet of fresh snow.

TRUCKEE, March 12.—Snowing light, south west wind; twenty inches of fresh snow.

NEVADA.

RENO, March 12.—The east bound train passed Colfax half an hour late. Two engines off the track near Blue Canyon and the road is blocked by them. A snow plow has been kept running between Emigrant Gap and Alta. A snow plow left Truckee for Summit at 10 30 A. M. Nothing heard of it since. The snow has got so deep alongside the track that new snow is very difficult to get rid of, and fear they may have serious trouble between Summit and Truckee. Cloudy and cold with wind from the southwest.

TOANO, March 12.—The weather seems to be settled, the snow is rapidly going off, and trains are all running in good shape. The west bound passenger train to-day was ten hours late, leaving here delayed east of Ogden.

PALISADES, NEV., March 12.—The West bound train is held at Carlin and will remain there all night on account of the track sinking near Battle Mountain. Snowing hard, wind west.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, March 12.—It is reported the railroad track is sunk about 10 miles west of here and trains cannot get over the break. Freight trains are held here and the West bound passenger train is held at Carlin, and will probably remain there all night.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Philadelphia Press says the protest which Boston is uttering so vigorously against Simmons is a forerunner of the great resentment which smoulders in the breast of Republican Pennsylvania.

The Republican party need not of necessity die for some time yet, but if a portion of our leaders, who are bent on making the party profitable to politicians, continue to fight honest men like the Hon. Henry L. Dawes, the sooner we change our policy the better.—[illegible]

Here, for instance, is a ticket that papers and politicians might gnash their teeth and snarl their tongues upon for a long while without doing it great harm: For President—Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts; For Vice-President—Newton Booth, of California.—Springfield Republican.

A wholesale discharge of the corps of spies and informers would be a welcome relief, but at least some alteration is imperatively demanded in the law which permits these creatures to feed and grow fat on sinecure Government offices. If reform is needed anywhere it is needed in our Custom House.—[illegible]

Almost single handed Gen. Butler fought the press of his state for two years past, and his temporary defeat, which was nearly a victory, was not owing to anything the newspapers said. To-day nearly every editor in Massachusetts hates to hear Butler's name.—[illegible]

The triumph of the Ring in Philadelphia fixes the power of that city in the hands of bummers and thieves until after the centennial. Now let Philadelphia get up and pay for her own celebrations. We don't propose to [illegible] in order to see the old State House in [illegible] of July [illegible]

The country may have it [illegible] to cooperate [illegible] with varying fortunes [illegible] But [illegible] there is no doubt [illegible] and if [illegible] will be [illegible] The Republican party may not survive, but that is a minor consideration. The honor and virtue of the American people will be vindicated, and that is all important.—[illegible]

CIVIL RIGHTS.—The Committee on Judiciary are waiting the recovery of Lyman Trumbull before taking the final vote upon the Civil Rights bill, it being the desire of Gen. Butler that the vote of the committee upon the bill in its final form shall be unanimous. Mr. Frieman, however, has been long confined by a severe illness and it is feared that he may not again take his seat this session.

COSSACK MANŒUVRES

Writing from St. Petersburg, in February, the London [illegible] correspondent says: After the review yesterday the Times describes the Michael Manege where the Emperor, Grand Duke [illegible] Cossack Body Guard went through their feats. These wild horsemen gave us some scenes of their predatory warfare, exhibiting a skill and activity perfectly marvelous. One after another they galloped by the Princes, shouting fierce war whoops and firing their long pistols and flintlocks at imaginary foes. They seemed to discharge their weapons in every position but from the saddle. Hanging on one side of the horse till the heads almost grazed the ground, and taking deliberate aim under the animal's belly, seemed the favorite attitude. One cavalier went by at speed standing on his head in the saddle; others leaped on and off their horses with the ease of circus riders. The exercise was so filled with smoke that it might well for all we could see have been some mountain defile and the body guard a band of robber knights swooping down on some village or caravan, or the party of peaceable travelers represented by the Grand Duke Nicholas, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburg and Prince Arthur. The Czarevna and the Princess of Wales were here also, and altogether the wild riders would have made a good day's work of it had they been brigands of the Steppe instead of the faithful body guard of the Emperor. Admiral Popoff told me it was a fine sight to see 1,500 of these horsemen playing their warlike pranks for miles and miles about the imperial cavalcade when the Grand Duke Constantine was traveling in the Caucasus. They always turn out in honor of a member of the imperial family going through the whole drama of their war along the road. Once or twice yesterday they divided and fought a battle among themselves. Half of them made their horses lie down and crouched behind the animals, the long barrels of their guns pointing in the direction of the enemy. Presently the assailants came riding out of the curtain of smoke with fierce cries, opening a glorious fire in all directions, which rather reminded one of some of the melees of our Autumn Manœuvres. Every one must have been killed; spectators included, before the band disentangled themselves from each other and retired again to opposite ends of the manege to take breath and measure powder for another onslaught. It was a picturesque and inspiring sight, utterly opposed to the precision and science of modern warfare as anything well could be. The costume, the arms, the men and the horses who carried them—all were wild and strange, telling us of a nation of warriors who knew not barracks yards and schools of musketry, but who knew right well how to fight in their own wild way. In real fighting these fine fellows one may suppose are not quite so gamesome as in the Michael Manege. Probably, for instance, the trooper who rode with his head in his saddle and his feet in the air would reserve that attitude till the day was over, and till he might safely indulge in the transports of victory. One of the Circassians, a burly man upon a white horse, was a son of the great Schamyl. He was presented to the Prince of Wales at the conclusion of the spectacle. More than one of the Russian officers present wore decorations earned in frontier warfare with such cavalry as those before us.

THE REPORTED DISCOVERY OF THE TRUE MOUNT SINAI

Several days since we printed the following telegram dated London, February 17th:

Dr. Beke, the English traveler, reports that he has discovered the true Mount Sinai. It is situated a day's journey northeast of the village of Akaba, Arabia, at an altitude of 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. Dr. Beke says he found the remains of animals that had been sacrificed. He also discovered Sinaitic inscriptions, which he copied.

The New York Times, referring to the above, says:

The announcement which comes by cable of the discovery of the true Mount Sinai must be received with caution. The question as to which of the peaks of the Sinaitic peninsula formed the Mount of God of the Bible narrative has divided travelers and geographers for many years. At one time the south point of the ridge known as Jebel Musa was supposed to be the mount on which Moses received the law; then the Jebel Serbal was assumed to be the true Sinai, and still later the Ras Sassafeh was supposed to fulfill best the conditions of the Biblical narrative. The problem has been to find a peak isolated enough to admit of the space around or in front of it required for the great encampment of Israel, and to render it possible that the summit should be in view of the entire congregation at the same time, and all the points hitherto selected have been open to objections on this score. Dr. Beke may have succeeded where so many others have failed, but it will be well to await the data on which he bases his belief before accepting it as conclusive.

BOOTH AND BOSTON WOMEN.—Perhaps the silliest of all women in respect to Edwin Booth have been and are the Bostonese. Beacon street and the South End quite lost their wits—not to refer to their hearts—regarding him. The story is that he feared to walk under the windows of fashionable dwellings there, lest romantic and lackadaisical maidens should hurl themselves upon his histrionic head, and in their effort to encircle him in their amorous arms crack his unprotected crown. He had and still has in that city a friend who is an apothecary—not a bit like him of Mantua. The actor was wont to go there frequently, to spend a leisure half hour or so, until his fame following caused him to keep away. The beauty and intellect of the Hub were largely represented in the apothecary's whenever Booth was there. The victims of dramatic fascination entered the shop on the pretext of purchasing, and the amount of slippery-elm, jujube paste, court plaster, refined liquorice and tooth brushes they abstracted themselves of is set down as something enormous. One pretty blonde is reported, during an engagement of the favorite actor, to have procured at that particular place not less than one hundred tooth brushes, and yet her teeth were like pearls. Another love-lorn damsel sent to him at that address a beautiful chain of her hair mounted with gold, which he put about the neck of a large cat that frequented the premises and gained by his pleasantry the reputation of an odious monster.—Chicago [illegible]

THE DEMANDS OF SOUTHERN CHURCHES.—A committee of the Virginia Conference of the M. E. Church appeared before the Senate Committee on Claims to-day, asking compensation for the churches destroyed by Union troops during the war at Arlington, Dumfries, Falls Church Village and Fairfax Court House. They claim compensation on the ground that the majority of their congregations who remained at home at these places, which were within the Union lines during the war, were [illegible] the Government of the United States.—[illegible]

SNAKES.—A widow in [illegible] New Jersey [illegible] a snake in her husband's [illegible] a few days ago. The result of the joke was [illegible] [illegible] took a critical look at him [illegible] and then going to [illegible] and the [illegible] neighboring pond.

A DOCTOR CONVICTED OF PORT SNATCHING.—Dr. Christian, convicted of desecrating a grave and removing a dead body from it, was [illegible] day sentenced to one year's imprisonment in jail. Judge Catter remitted the fine because it would operate as a punishment to [illegible] family.—[illegible] Special Feb. 9th.

Four of the six horses recently stolen from J. L. Brush's ranch, near Greeley, Colorado, were captured a few days since on the Smoky Hill. They were in possession of a party of horse thieves, but being hard pressed the thieves abandoned the stock and escaped.

Bishop Peck, of the M. E. Church, writing to the Advocate from Ogden, Feb. 28th, says: "Allow me to state to those concerned that I have appointed Rev. Luther F. Woodward Presiding Elder of Puget Sound District. He will retain the charge of Olympia station until otherwise ordered."

The Seattle [illegible] learns that four men came down to Victoria from Fort Wrangel on the steamer Otter on the 4th inst., badly frostbitten, and also two others similarly afflicted on the [illegible]. Let those who contemplate a visit to the new mines beware of starting too early.

The Boise Statesman of the 3d inst. says: Dr. Belknap is down from Idaho City. He reports a good depth of snow, five feet on an average over the basin and seven feet on the summit between there and Banner District. They are beginning to clean out the ditches, and prospects are fair for a rich mining season. Dave Conghanour has struck a rich pay streak in the Gold Hill mine, four feet in width. Some of Mr. Craft's men came in from Gold Hill last week and report improved discoveries in the [illegible] district. The thermometer has been down to eighteen below zero, but the weather has softened up, and everybody is looking forward to the opening of spring with hopeful prospects.

It has been determined to garrison Red Cloud and White Clay Agencies with regular troops. For this purpose a force of eight companies of infantry and six of cavalry will be sent from Cheyenne as soon as the troops can be properly clad and rationed, and march via Fort Laramie to the agencies. Three companies of infantry and two of cavalry will be the garrison for each post, with two cavalry and two infantry companies to guard trains of supplies and keep open communication between the agencies and Fort Laramie. The infantry will comprise five companies of the Eighth, two of the Thirteenth and one of the Fourteenth—the whole battalion under command of Major Thomas S. Dunn, Eighth Infantry. The cavalry will be four companies of the Second and two of the Third, all under command of Major Dunn.

The Olympia Courier of the 11th says: We are sorry to learn of a serious accident that befell the stagecoach and team of Mr. Coggan, near Tenino. The driver had left his team a minute and they took advantage of his absence to have a big runaway. Two or three telegraph poles, the stage and four horses were involved in a general wreck when our informant left. No one was in the stage, or in its way, and therefore we have no deaths or injuries to record other than perhaps to the horses.

The Courier says: A respite has been granted by the Governor in the case of Augustus Fyfe, under sentence of death in Pierce county, until the 15th of May next. We are informed that the object of this clemency is to enable the father and brother of Fyfe to visit him before his execution. They reside in Nevada, and heard of his conviction recently, and cannot reach here before the time fixed for executing the death penalty. This postponement is not to be regarded as indicative of an intention either to pardon or commute.

Here is what the Denver News, a Republican paper, says of some recent Federal appointments in Colorado: Sewright, a Democratic editor, nominated and confirmed Surveyor General; Jenkins, a Parliamentary broker, nominated and confirmed as Secretary. We hope those of our citizens who have opposed State admission enjoy the prospect. Two citizens of the Territory, voters, tax payers and property owners, against whom there is no charge public or private, and who have discharged their duties both honorably and satisfactorily, are thrust aside, kicked out unceremoniously, for the purpose of making room for a couple of played-out political hacks who have been doing the dirty work of Eastern politicians and must now have their reward. Sewright's only recommendation is that he has been a tool for Simon Cameron, while the immortal Jenkins is put forward by the Virginia delegation, who have wearied of paying his board and whisky bills. These are the two men who are coming out here with United States commissions in their hands to fill our Federal offices.

Speaking of Seattle University matters, the Dispatch speaks in complimentary terms of the teachers in charge. Owing to the general depression in money matters and consequent impossibility of making prompt collection of the revenue derivable from interest on the University fund, the Regents, who are restrained by law from entrenching upon the principal, are reluctantly compelled to dispense with the valuable services of the President, Professor F. OLYMPIA AND TENINO R. R.

Mr. I. A. [illegible], Secretary of the Olympia Railroad [illegible] report [illegible] the [illegible] says:

Having invested [illegible] people want a railroad they must pay for it, as it is well for [illegible] and [illegible] the enterprise [illegible] Capital [illegible] $1 [illegible]

Ten per cent. interest on investment	$1 [illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Running expenses [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Express	[illegible]
Way freight	[illegible]
Way fares	[illegible]
Mails	[illegible]
[illegible]	$1 [illegible]

He claims that the people can afford to make the investment [illegible] railroad for two or three years to come without receiving any interest upon that specific capital, after which time the development of the country will increase the legitimate business and make the investment a good paying one.

OREGON

McMinnville [illegible] asking to be made a money order [illegible]

Some Yamhillers caught three [illegible] quail [illegible] a few days ago.

McMinnville firemen will hold their annual election next Monday.

Fifty five inches of snow have fallen in Wasco county the past winter.

Salem is removing some of her street lamps. Retrenchment is the order in that city.

A special session of the Grand Encampment of the I. O. O. F. was in session at Salem on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Warren Gibson was convicted of assault in the Circuit Court now in session at Salem, recommended to the mercy of the court and fined $50.

The following named gentlemen have been selected as delegates from Wasco county to the Democratic State Convention, which convenes at Albany on the 15th inst.: James M. Bird, [illegible] Baxter, John Moran, N. H. Gates and J. Schultz.

The unterrified of Yamhill met at the Court House at Lafayette in Convention last Saturday to select delegates to their State Convention. Hon. Andy Shuck occupied the chair. Messrs. J. W. Baker and Wm. Galloway acting as scribes. Messrs. A. Shuck, J. D. Fenton, R. J. Lancefield, J. C. Nelson, W. B. Galloway and Gustal Wilson were chosen to represent Yamhill Democracy at Albany. As soon as this business was concluded, Hon. W. T. Newby offered a set of three resolutions, and G. Wilson moved their adoption. The first resolves that all railroads, steamboats and all other corporate carriers are subject to legislative control of their profits and fares. The second denounces the act approved by Gov. Grover whereby Clerks and Sheriffs fees were increased from 30 to 50 per cent. The third heartily endorses the administration of Gov. Grover. The McMinnville Reporter, from which we take the foregoing, does not inform us whether the resolutions were adopted or voted down.

From the Reporter: On Saturday evening four ladies visited the saloon in McMinnville, where they were kindly received by the proprietor and by him were respectfully treated. They were comfortably seated—those who chose to sit—and sat a couple of hours arguing the iniquity of liquor selling with the saloon keeper and pleading with him to desist. When the ladies went into the room there were several gentlemen in, and in a few minutes some of those were left, that is, those who [illegible]. Well, these the ladies pleaded their cause. On leaving the ladies asked whether they would be permitted to continue their visits. Such privilege was denied them—or rather that any one party should make repeated visits. He says every woman in town may make one visit, and after each one has done so they must stop. On Tuesday evening a different party of eight were admitted, who went into the saloon and prayed. One of the former party went in, but was ordered out and she left. The ladies seem determined and promise the salvation of McMinnville. The saloon keeper seems invulnerable, and promises to sell all the whisky he can. Which of them will keep the promise time will show.

ABOUT RAILROAD LAND

Some time since, says the Reporter, a petition was circulated and numerously signed by citizens of McMinnville, for presentation to the Secretary of the Interior, setting forth the facts in the violation by the West Side Railroad Company of the contract by which they were to receive subsidies and subscriptions of lands, and praying that such lands be withheld from the Railroad Company in consequence of their violation of contract. Through Mr. Nesmith that petition has reached its destination, and the Secretary of the Interior has addressed a letter to the President of the Railroad Company, saying:

I have received a protest signed by W. T. Newby and 1[illegible] others, who claim to be the citizens of McMinnville and vicinity, Yamhill county, Oregon, against the action of your Company in locating the terminus of the road on the Yamhill river three and one half miles from said town, instead of near it, as required by the act approved May 4, 1870, (16 stat. [illegible])

The map of definite location of your Company's road to said river was approved by the Department on the 21st of June, 1871, but until the receipt of said protest my attention was not called to the distance of the terminus from said town.

Before taking any further action on the protest I deem it proper to call the attention of the Company to the matter, and should be pleased to hear from you on the subject at as early a day as may be practicable.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office informs me that no lands have been patented to your Company, nor selections made.

DE COSMOS HUNG IN EFFIGY

Pedestrians on Fort street, early yesterday morning, were surprised at observing a strange looking object depending from the halliards of the flagstaff of Philharmonic Hall and swaying to and fro in the morning air, like the pendulum of a clock sadly out of time. About [illegible] o'clock some of the workmen who were employed in arranging the hall for the People's Banquet arrived on the spot and lowered the object to the ground. It proved to be a huge salt salmon with an immense hook through its gills, and several labels attached showed that it was intended as an effigy of the Gemal [illegible] and Gifted. Here are copies of a few of the mottoes pinned to the fish:

A fresh production from Salt Lake
I changed my name and turned my coat and now I've changed my element
I'm a [illegible] fish

SPLENDID CHANCE.—Some most remarkable matrimonial advertisements appear in a [illegible] contemporary [illegible]

No. 1.—A young lady of nineteen, whose fortune exceeds $1,000,000, wishes to marry a prince, duke or marquis; in fact, a great swell. [illegible] Address, I. M. W. P. It seems that either the ladies are [illegible] or gentlemen [illegible] much as these prizes have, judging by the repetition of the advertisement, remained [illegible] in the market. There is [illegible] of a crown [illegible] about the poor mill [illegible] wanting a Duke, Prince or Marquis in [illegible] bowling well [illegible] the [illegible] character of many of the matrimonial advertisements is put an end to by the [illegible] divorce suits the revelation [illegible] that the marriage was begun by a [illegible] advertisement [illegible] matrimonial [illegible]

A POSTAL CURIOSITY.—A New York dispatch of Feb. 10 says: A valuable letter which was mailed from the Canadian Liverpool twenty two years ago was returned at the Dead Letter Bureau of the post office yesterday. The letter was addressed [illegible] care of the United States Consul at Liverpool, and is supposed to have been recently discovered among the old papers in the Consulate.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

A tree was cut down at Esquimalt last week that made 80 cords of wood.

Mr. Eastman, a well known citizen of Victoria, died suddenly last week of paralysis.

Mr. T. Tugwell left Stoke on his sloop eight days ago for Esquimalt [illegible] has not [illegible] been seen.

Mr. Kave, of New Westminster, shipped the other day 300 bbls salmon for the Sandwich Islands.

The bark Mary Ebbley sailed from London for Victoria on the 28th January, with a full cargo of goods.

Nearly all the passengers by the Prince Alfred on her last trip from San Francisco to Victoria have gone on to Cassiar. There were about 100 of them.

Poker Jack and his sloop Merlin were runaway British sailors who deserted their ships at Esquimalt many years ago and settled on Puget Sound.

A complimentary dinner was given to several gentlemen at Victoria last Monday for their persistent efforts to preserve intact the terms of the union of the Province of British Columbia with Canada.

The following British Columbia members of the Canadian Parliament will leave Victoria on the next steamer for Ottawa: Senators Macdonald and Cornwall, and Messrs. Roscoe, Bunster, Cunningham and Dewdney of the Commons.

The steamer under construction for Captain Irving and intended for the navigation of the Stickeen river, was launched at Victoria last Monday. She is a sternwheeler, and will likely be ready for her trial trip about the first of the ensuing month.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce has adopted memorials to the Governor General and the Local Government with respect to having the British China mail steamships touch at Esquimalt going and coming, twice a month, bringing and taking the mails each time. The steamers are first class screws of 5,000 tons burthen and the difference in the price of coals at that port added to a money subsidy will, it is hoped, be sufficient inducement for the owners to entertain the project.

On the 10th of February Mr. Mathew Lynch, miner of the Russel Robinson Co., Lowhee Creek, was found dead on the Lowhee trail near the Black Bull Co's claim. It appears that the deceased had been at [illegible] allier's store, Richfield, the day before, where he purchased some provisions, with which he was returning home. He had passed over the trail but a few hours before his return, in the meanwhile the wind had drifted it full so that it could not be seen. He had gained the summit of the hill and was doubtless exhausted, when night overtook him; he lost the trail and wandered about in search of it, as could be seen by his tracks. Unable to find it—when about half a mile from his cabin—he sat down, fell asleep and there died.

The Colonist, speaking of the arrival of the Anderson from Fort Wrangel, says: "She had a pleasant and prosperous voyage. The weather was fine. She touched at Nanaimo, Alert Bay, Skeena and other ports on the way up, and landed her passengers in excellent health and her freight in good condition. The schooner Favorite was lying at Wrangel, all well except one passenger (Robinson) who returned in the Anderson. The snow was about six inches deep at Wrangel, and the passengers who went up in the Anderson and Otter (about 200) were training their dogs and themselves to drag the tobogans over the ice and snow. Indians charge $2 50 from Wrangel to the ice in the Stickeen, which continued firm. Sylvester Barnard's Express messenger had gone on, but there was no news from the Forks."

GLAZING DONE T[illegible]

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 1[illegible] 1874

WRETCHED SOUTH CAROLINA.

The story about Gov. Moses' capacity for creating bad debts, which was published in the OREGONIAN several days ago, is duly attested by the address of the Taxpayers' Convention which met in Charleston recently. Moses is a carpet-bagger in the meanest acceptation of that word. His record prior to the time in which he imposed himself upon the people of South Carolina is that of an impecunious political mendicant. He used to hang about Washington always ready to greedily snap up such crumbs of Executive patronage as fell from the White House table. In an evil hour, just about the time we were deepest in the business of guaranteeing the improved republican form of government to several States, Moses emigrated to South Carolina. His official career there comprises a series of gigantic thefts and swindles which are recounted with startling force in the document before us.

The Taxpayers declare in the words of Gov. Porter, President of the Convention, that "they have no civil freedom but are subjects of a plain and naked despotism." This is strong language for American tongues and ears. But let us see what Gov. Porter has to say in support of his remarkable assertion. First then the taxable property of the State has declined from $500,000,000 in 1860 to $17[illegible],000,000 at the present time. There is nothing unreasonable in this statement. In fact nearly all of the Southern States which entered into the secession scheme have suffered in the same way. General Gordon has produced statistics which prove pretty conclusively that the depreciation of values in Georgia closely approximates Gov. Porter's figures for South Carolina. And the financial condition of Louisiana is quite as lamentable. But while the value of taxable property has decreased at this enormous rate, the levies of the carpetbag administration have increased beyond all reason. "From $400,000 in 1860 to $2,500,000 in 1874," is the way the Taxpayers figure it up. Here is a table which we take from the memorial to Congress adopted by the Convention. It tells in unmistakable terms, of outrageous burdens imposed and criminal management or theft. The memorial says: "The following comparison of leading items of expenditures will best exhibit the change:"

Salaries	$76,481 63	$240,787 30
Public printing	17,446 66	331,945 66
Legislative expenses	51,337 00	291,339 47
Public asylums	25,897 00	123,432 11
Contingent funds	6,092 97	[illegible],032 75
Sundries	83,413 81	298,668 85
Deficiencies	None	340,328 00

The memorial narrates with some degree of particularity the frauds practiced in the matter of public printing. It alleges that two legislative clerks contracted with themselves as private persons to do all the printing, and the appropriations made in a single year under their contracts reached the enormous sum total of $575,000. In the fiscal year 1873 there was paid to them $331,000, as shown above. The State still owes the remaining $244,000. Further on, it is shown that in the sixty years between 1800 and 1859, the total appropriations for public printing aggregated only $271,180. That is to say, South Carolina paid in one year, 1873, for the single item of public printing, $60,755 more than it cost the State during the sixty years preceding the war.

The same waste and extravagance is apparent in other branches of the State government. The memorial especially condemns a scheme by which the State debt "has in six years been raised from $5,000,000 to $16,000,000, and that without advancing any public works, adding one dollar to the public property or to the payment of the public debt."

The memorialists solemnly declare that all these evils culminate in the Executive Department. The courts afford no means for the relief of the taxpayers and the punishment of their oppressors, for the judiciary is corrupt, and the three officials upon whom devolves the duty of selecting jurors are appointed by the Governor. The course of justice is interrupted or diverted whenever the people attempt to call their taskmasters to account. "Indeed," says the memorial, "the entire system is one of self-sustaining and self-protecting corruption."

Our review of the grievances under which the people of South Carolina suffer has necessarily been imperfect. We have given the salient points, only, but even this incomplete showing is sufficient to stamp the present administration of public affairs in South Carolina as an intolerable despotism, inferior in no essential point of the most oppressive tyrannies of the Old World. That such a state of affairs can exist in a country professedly republican is almost beyond belief. Franklin J. Moses is quite as truly autocrat of South Carolina, in all save title, as is Alexander II. Autocrat of all the Russias. Verily it is time that we pause to take our bearings and determine whether or not there is power under the Constitution which can lure the ship of state from its drifting in the treacherous current of partisanship. If it is possible for these things to be in Louisiana and South Carolina are they not also possible with all the other States? And is there no remedy? Congress can evade these questions no longer. It is high time some answer were made.

CONGRESS AND THE CENTENNIAL.

The Senate has finally disposed of the Cameron Centennial Bill, and its decision is that no money shall be taken from the National Treasury to aid in defraying the expenses of the Exhibition. The bill was taken up on the 6th inst. Several Senators availed themselves of the opportunity to preach the absolute necessity of rigid economy in the matter of appropriations. Mr. Sargent [illegible] ground, and scorning to advocate retrenchment as a duty of patriotism, plainly told the Senate that the appropriation of money for this exhibition would be fatal [first] to the Republican party and [second] to the tax ridden people of the country." The champions of the bill seem to have suffered the bill to die by their own default. We quote from a report of Senate proceedings:

Stockton's amendment to instruct the committee to report in favor of the International Exhibition was then withdrawn, and Frelinghuysen's instructing the committee to report an appropriation, not to exceed $3,000,000 to defray the expenses of the Exhibition, was rejected—ayes 17, noes 33.

The Western Senators voting the affirmative were Logan, Hagar, Hitchcock and Ramsey. Morton, Ingalls and Mitchell (who would have voted aye) were paired off with Carpenter, Thurman and Wadleigh, who would have voted nay. It was then referred to the Committee on Appropriations without division as amended.

The text of the bill is as follows:

"That the President be requested to extend a respectful and cordial invitation to the Governor of each one of the United States to be represented and to take part in the National Exhibition to be holden in Philadelphia under the auspices of the Government of the United States in the year 1876."

It is not probable that any further effort to secure an appropriation will be made. There seems to be a strong sentiment at Washington which favors making the Exhibition national rather than an international affair. We have never doubted but that the people of the several States would contribute liberally to the support and encouragement of the enterprise. And we are inclined to believe that the action of the Senate will meet with very general approval. Now let each of the States give such financial and moral support as will put the Centennial Exhibition beyond the possibility of failure.

The New York papers are waging fierce battle over that $500,000 comma. The Times is particularly vigorous in an article entitled "Hyphen or Comma." It protests that such loose and slipshod legislation by persons pretending to understand the English language is disgraceful. It is disgusted with the way in which Mr. Kelley's committee constructs our tariff laws, and it vents its disgust after this fashion:

> Here we have it. The intention of Congress, depending on a punctuation mark, as at debate were had and votes taken on punctuation. Who can now say whether hyphen or comma, or either, was the will of Congress and the President? Mr. Stimson shouts for hyphen and Mr. Stimpkins for comma. Good draughtsmen of title-deeds or laws do not need the aid of punctuation of any kind to make their meaning clear. Indeed the first thing taught the beginner is to so construct his sentences that punctuation cannot alter or vary their meaning.

Mr. Chin Len Pin, Commissioner of the Chinese Educational Mission, and for many years a resident of the United States, has gone to Cuba under instructions from His Ineffably Serene Highness Toung Chi to inquire into the condition of the coolies on the ever faithful Isle. Some of the Cuban papers fear that Mr. Chin Len Pin will incite the [illegible] to revolt and they call upon the Captain General to take precautionary measures. Others have threatened the ambassador of His Ineffably Serene, etc., with a violent reception, and Chin is debating the possibilities. If anything should happen to the precious pigtail of the ambassador, we doubt not the war editors would soon be clamoring for an invasion of Cuba. It is well to be forehanded at any rate and we hereby nominate the editor of the Bulletin to the responsible position of chief gong ist.

Blakeley, Treasurer of Santa Cruz county, Cal., who was found in the vault of his office gagged and bound about a year ago and who was arrested on suspicion of being the real robber of the county funds, has been released at last. There were some queer points in the case, and a great many citizens of Santa Cruz county believed he bound and gagged himself, and then closed the door of the vault. If he did that thing he will most likely make better provision for ventilation next time. When they pried the door open with a crow bar he was well nigh suffocated. Our dispatches state, however, that his release meets with very general approval.

In our note, yesterday, on the succession to the lamented Sumner, we remarked that the country could congratulate itself on the fact that Governor Washburn may be relied on to appoint no politician of the Butler school to the unexpired term, forgetting, for the moment, that the Massachusetts General Court is now in session and that it will devolve upon that body to elect a successor to the dead Senator. The legislature is strongly anti-Butler, most of the members having been elected on a platform in which the Essex statesman was pointedly denounced.

On the night of the 5th inst. the flourishing College at Hillsdale, Michigan, was destroyed by fire. The libraries, musical instruments and all the furniture was destroyed. The aggregate loss was $75,000, upon which there was an insurance amounting to $50,000.

CITY.

INQUEST—VERDICT—Coroner Dryer returned to the city yesterday morning from down the river where he went on Wednesday afternoon to hold an inquest over the remains of the unknown man From him we learn that the inquest was held according to the requirements of law There being nothing about the body which could lead to identification the Coroner gave orders to have it buried near where it was found On searching the pockets the following articles were found Two handkerchiefs one ivory tooth pick a large white handled knife a cigar holder a piece of tobacco a bunch of small keys to which were attached three small silver and two copper coins and several loaded cartridges The pistol which was found lying on the ground apparently as if it had fallen from his hand was of the southerner pattern and of the size of 6 600 It was apparently new and of neat design and workmanship A name was stamped on the corner of one of the handkerchiefs but it was so blurred and indistinct that all efforts to decipher the letters proved of no avail Deceased was about [illegible] high and of quite respectable appearance The place where the body was found was a secluded lonely spot and had no doubt been purposely sought by the suicide for the commission of the dreadful deed In choosing such a wild solitary spot the person had evidently resolved that his remains should never be discovered by human sight and nothing but the merest chance ever directed Mr [illegible] footsteps in that direction

The following is the verdict of the jury

We the undersigned Coroner's jury summoned to inquire into the death of an unknown man found dead on the slough [illegible] opposite the head of Sauvies Island find that after hearing the testimony of M Bender James Quigley and A Keizur, and the facts upon examination, that deceased's name is unknown and that his death was caused by a pistol shot inflicted by his own hands

SHIP PURCHASED—The French brig Sud which was stranded nearly two weeks ago on Sand Island, was sold on last Tuesday pursuant to announcement She was purchased by eight persons four of whom are residents of this city, and four live down the river Those who own an interest in the vessel in Portland are Messrs A Meier Wm Gallick E. Frank and A A Cohn Mr G W Hume the well known owner of the salmon fishery down the Columbia also purchased an interest in the brig The names of the other purchasers we are not in possession of at present The sum paid for the Sud was $2,050 She is said to be in good condition, having sustained but slight damages Two of the purchasers are old and experienced pilot and they are very confident that the brig can be launched without doubt, by taking advantage of high tides Should her present owners succeed in getting the vessel in deep water in her present condition they will have made a most excellent investment We learn that it is the intention of the new owners to make an effort to launch the Sud at the earliest practicable day

ENTERTAINMENT—MUSICAL AND LITERARY—The musical and literary entertainment to which reference was made a few days since will come off on next Wednesday evening in the Taylor street M E Church commencing at 7.30 o clock The Committee of Arrangements, although not prepared to furnish a full programme in this issue feel assured that this entertainment will be second to none ever held in this city Among those whose assistance has already been secured are the following For instrumental and vocal music—Prof and Miss Yarndly Mrs H Y Thompson Mrs M Gilbert, Mrs. C. C. Morse Mrs H N Northrup Misses Dillon and Ball Messrs Morse Franklin Morgan Struble Gordon and the choir of the church, for readings, recitations etc., Mrs D B Smith Miss Gittner Miss Dillon, Miss Combs Messrs McCrakin Bilkington Smith and Royal

THE TRANSFER—At 5 o clock last evening soon after the termination of the Protection Company's house warming the members of Columbian Engine Company No. 3, drew from their house for the last time that good old hand engine" which has done service at their hands for many years With the City Brass Band at the head, the procession moved off taking the most convenient route for Tiger Engine Company's house Arriving there they were waited upon by the Tigers who welcomed them and the new addition to their working apparatus The engine being housed those present partook of crackers, cheese ham and coffee, a plain but substantial lunch Speeches were made, and after a brief stay No 3's returned to their house The event will be remembered as a pleasant one to all concerned

RATHER AGED—At the meat stall of Mr Reed at Central Market, can be seen a large chopping block that was taken from the trunk of a very large and aged oak tree which grew on the land now owned by Mr Giles, below the city If appearances are to be relied as testimony relative to the age of this tree it was a young and vigorous sapling long before our forefathers were engaged in their sanguinary struggle for colonial independence By carefully counting the rings or circles of wood each of which are supposed to represent a season's growth, it is estimated [illegible] was two hundred and seventy [illegible] years old After being trimmed off the block is nearly three and a half feet in diameter and [illegible] not a single flaw or decayed spot

CLOSED—The City Market which [illegible] constructed last year at the corner of Madison and First streets, by Mr D D Bunnell was closed yesterday, some of the occupants removing to their old quarters and others to new buildings The Market was formally opened Dec 23, 1873 only one-half of the stalls being occupied Those who rented the stalls found that their prospects to do well in the Market were not very promising and some few dropped out after a trying a month Yesterday the remaining [illegible] moved, as above stated What disposition Mr Bunnell will make of the building we are unable to say We trust it will not remain vacant long Mr Bunnell [illegible] San Francisco

[illegible] MEETING [illegible] CITIZENS [illegible] BUSINESS [illegible] THE PORTLAND DALLES AND SALT LAKE RAILROAD BILL [illegible] RESOLUTIONS [illegible]

Pursuant to a call issued and signed by a number of the citizens of Portland asking that a public meeting be held at Ankeny's Hall to take some action regarding the bill authorizing the construction of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake railroad now pending before Congress a large number of the business men of the city convened last evening at Ankeny's Hall

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the evening there were present over a hundred persons

The meeting was called to order by Mr O P Gibson The first thing in order he said would be the selection of a permanent Chairman for the evening

His Honor Mayor Ladd was placed in nomination and chosen

On taking the Chair Mr Ladd stated very briefly the objects for which the meeting had been called He said that it was for the purpose of taking some decided public action in regard to the railroad bill now pending before Congress and endeavor to insure the passage of the same by memorializing that body and indicating the public interest felt here in this very important enterprise It was to the interest of the whole coast and more especially this State and city that this bill should be passed and that the road be constructed He sincerely hoped that every one present would take a lively interest in this very important measure

O B Gibson was on motion chosen Secretary of the meeting

J. H Reed moved that the Chairman appoint a committee of five to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting

The motion prevailed and the following persons were appointed

J H Reed I Wasserman H I Bloch O N Denny and J J Atkinson

At the suggestion of Capt Ankeny and the Chairman the Committee were excused to retire to a private room provided for them to prepare resolutions

Pending the report of the Committee on Resolutions short and enthusiastic speeches were made by ex Senator H W Corbett Judge W W Upton Joseph Gaston Esq Mr W H Watkins and O P Mason who urged in the strongest terms the benefits to accrue to Portland and the whole Willamette Valley from the passage of the bill and the construction of this great thoroughfare

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The Committee on Resolutions made their appearance at this juncture and submitted the following report

Resolved That we earnestly and respectfully solicit the cooperation of the Senators and Representatives of the other States in connection with those of the State of Oregon for the passage of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad bill now pending in Congress

That we consider the construction of this railroad of vital importance to the growth and prosperity of the whole Northwest coast more particularly the State of Oregon and the Territories of Washington and Idaho

That the construction of this road will give direct communication with the Eastern States will greatly facilitate all commercial transactions and will open up for settlement the great agricultural valleys and the vast grazing districts along the line of the proposed railroad which are now unoccupied and valueless to the Government

That the aid asked from Congress by the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad is of such a limited nature, and the proposition made to carry the mails free of charge for ever is so liberal in its character that it is the opinion of this meeting that the passage of this bill will prove an act of absolute economy to the Government

That the thanks of this meeting are hereby tendered to our representatives in Congress and to all parties engaged in helping forward this to us most important enterprise

That we hereby solicit co operation of the people of the Dalles Umatilla Walla Walla La Grande Baker City and Boise City and of all persons along the proposed line of railroad, with us in endeavor ing to procure the passage of this bill

On motion these resolutions were unanimously adopted

Mr Coombs moved that the Secretary be authorized to furnish a copy of the resolutions to the daily papers of the city for publication

Mr Corbett moved to amend by adding that the Secretary be instructed to forward engrossed copies of the resolutions to our representatives in Congress and also to both presiding officers of Senate and Lower House The motion prevailed

Mr Gaston moved that the presiding officer of the meeting be instructed and authorized to send to the Associated Press of Washington to day substantially the proceedings of the meeting so that it [illegible] same night [illegible] Motion prevailed

On motion the meeting adjourned

SOCIAL EVENTS

Agreeable to announcement the gay festivities were brought to a close last evening with a ball at Masonic Hall Protection Engine Company under whose auspices the affair was given spared neither expense nor pains to make the ball most enjoyable to all participating Masonic Hall was crowded in every part with a merry crowd of devotees to the art terpsichore The hall was handsomely decorated with many appropriate devices [illegible] ded in mingling up the pleasing display Excellent music was discoursed The floor managers did their duty nobly and the dancers were [illegible] inconvenience in any particular We are pleased to say the affair was well largely patronized and that it was a success in all respects

FOUR'S HOUSE WARMING.

According to previous announcement the housewarming of the engine of Protection Engine Co No 4 took place yesterday and the occasion of a most splendid [illegible] display was it made by the gallant firemen of that efficient Company as well as by the entire Department of the city

The occasion of the festivities [illegible] elegant quarters once occupied by this company is one well remembered by all our citizens who [illegible] further back than that terrible Saturday August 2 1873 when such a large part of our city was swept by the flood of flames with the besom of destruction The House of No 4 standing on the corner of First and Jefferson streets succumbed on that dreadful day and the boys have since been compelled to shelter their engine and hold their meetings elsewhere Some time since the Council [illegible] let the contract for the rebuilding of their house and we are now permitted to chronicle the fact of their return to the [illegible] from which they were

At half past 1 o clock yesterday the various companies of the Department assembled in uniform at the temporary Headquarters of the company the house of Vigilance Hook & Ladder Company to escort the members of No 4 and their engine back to

THEIR HOME

The procession formed on First street facing north in the order named as follows

1st Four members of the [illegible] Police

2d City Brass Band

3 Chief Engineer Portland Fire Department and 1st and 2d Assistant Engineer

4th Joseph Webber ex Chief Engineer P F D and present Chief of the Albany Fire Department and W J White ex Chief Engineer of the Oregon City Fire Department

5th Willamette Engine Company No 1 P F D

6th Multnomah Engine Company No 2 P F D

7th Columbian Engine Company No 3 P F D

8th Tiger Engine Company No 5 P F D

9th Vigilance Hook & Ladder Company No 1 P F D

10th Protection Engine Company No 4 P F D with their fire steamer and Company in full force

After parading the principal streets of the city in this order passing each of the Engine Houses at [illegible] each giving three hearty cheers for the occupants the procession brought up at the

RECONSTRUCTED [illegible]

Of No 4's which had been thrown open and the engine of the Company drawn in when Mr Bruen Chief Engineer declared the

ENGINE HOUSE

And proposed three cheers for Protection Co No 4 which were given only as firemen can cheer The Company had an elegant lunch spread in their engine room to partake of which a cordial invitation was extended to the firemen and invited guests In a neat speech by R Holman the veteran fireman, ex Chief Engineer and the present Foreman of Protection, We in common with others indulged freely, and around the loaded table a [illegible] the deeds of the past and [illegible] in genial conversation and exhilarating toasts to the interest of the company and the Department at large Seldom have we seen more good humor and general friendliness manifested or in a semblage more jovial and those who were guests will henceforth entertain an excellent opinion of the liberality and hospitality of the members of the company in whose honor the event took place

PRESENTATION [illegible]

After the lunch was over a large number of the participants repaired to the upper or business room of the House which was found to be fitted up in an elegant and becoming style for the purposes to which it is devoted Order being called by Mr Carson, President of the company Mr R G Combs of Tiger Company No 5 in a few pertinent remarks tendered to Mr W H McMullen the engineer of Four's an elegant set of sleeve buttons for the many favors shown by that gentleman to the company represented by Mr Combs

Mr McMullen replied returning his thanks in appropriate terms

Col White ex Chief Engineer of the Oregon City Department was called for and responded in an earnest and enthusiastic speech congratulating the company upon the successful housing of their engine in such comfortable and elegant quarters and the Department at large upon its efficiency

THE HOUSE

As rebuilt and furnished is superior in its accommodations to any other [illegible] and reflects credit upon the citizens of Portland who have erected it and the company which has so well furnished it and proved so worthy to occupy it

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE

(From the Sentinel)

Solemn High Mass will be celebrated in the Cathedral church on St. Patrick's Day commencing at 10 o clock The panegyric will be preached by the Very Rev. [illegible]

Thursday next the 19th inst will be the Feast of St Joseph the patron of the Church Masses will be celebrated at the Cathedral at six eight and nine o'clock so that every member of the congregation in this parish can avail themselves of the opportunity to [illegible] the Divine sacrifice upon this solemn festival

We noticed by the Walla Walla papers that the French citizens of that city have organized a Lafayette Society and intend joining the sons of Erin in celebrating St Patrick's Day There has always been a bond of sympathy between Ireland and France and these reunions [illegible] much to perpetuate the good feeling that has ever existed between the land of the Shamrock and La belle France

In accordance with the report of the Committee appointed at the previous meeting the Catholic Social Union resolved last Tuesday evening to give an entertainment in aid of the Catholic Library of this city on Thursday evening April 7th 1874 The following ladies and gentlemen were appointed a Committee of Arrangements Messrs H L Herman S J McCormick, J J Wiley John M Cearns Charles McGinn and R C White and Misses Annie Showers Tillie Raleigh Maggie Burke and Mary Sheridan

AMUSEMENTS.

After long patient and painstaking preparations on the part of a company of well known amateurs the Color Guard will be offered to the public for the first time this evening at Oro Fino Theater This play will be produced under the auspices of Canby and Baker Posts G A R and the proceeds are to be donated to the Charity Fund of that organization The object is most laudable for this fund is devoted to the relief of destitute widows and orphans of soldiers and sailors A few dollars can not be more generously bestowed than in aiding such a noble charitable cause and we would urge upon this public to patronize liberally the forthcoming entertainment Much care and attention has been exercised in its preparations rehearsals have been held every night of the present week and there is no doubt but what the play will be brought out in a very creditable and satisfactory manner Secure your seats early

A CHICAGO STAGE SCENE—This is from the Chicago Times A rather queer scene was enacted in a Blue Island avenue bus on Thursday evening A couple of ruffians persisted in puffing huge clouds of tobacco smoke in the faces of ladies in the stage A gentleman took hold of the stub belonging to one of the fellows and pitched it out of the window This was the signal for a row and one of the roughs half pulled his shooter from his breeches pocket A live young woman present however went him one better for while he was fumbling about for his pistol she presented and cocked a neat little revolver at his cranium politely informing him that any further demonstration would lead to decided unpleasantness It was enough, and he and his fellow bullys very quickly relieved the startled passengers of their presence

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times Women call upon their family physicians one with dyspepsia another with palpitation another with trouble of the breast another with pain here and there and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy going and indifferent doctors separate and distinct diseases for which he prescribes his pills and potions assuming them to be such when in reality they are all symptoms caused by some uterine disorder and while they are thus only able perhaps to palliate for a time the are ignorant of the cause and encourage their practice until large bills are made when the suffering patients are no better in the end but probably worse for the delay treatment and other complications made and which a proper medicine Pierce's [illegible] would have entirely [illegible] thereby instituting health and comfort [illegible]

MARK TWAIN'S LAST

HOW HE WENT FOR THE STUPID BOY

Ladies and Gentlemen — It don't know that I have the faculty, inborn in Americans which Mr Kingsley has called your attention to, but if I haven't it I will not take this occasion to confess it [laughter] and not having ever been to school I have not the faculty of feeling that on which the President speaks of. And as I only knew two hours ago that I was to be here I have naturally come with no speech, because I never knew a man who could deliver an impromptu speech with only two hours to get it up in [laughter and applause]. But the presence of Mr Kingsley—Canon Kingsley, his title, amon has always been a puzzle to me [laughter]—but his presence here suggests to me an episode of my own recently and as under the old regime—I don't know what the old regime is but it is something that used to exist before—when called upon you had the privilege of either telling an anecdote or of singing a song. Never having sung a song—at least, having never succeeded in singing a song I am still perfectly willing to try now but I am afraid it would be disagreeable to the audience so I will tell an anecdote. When I was coming over from England the other day there was a youth on board about 16 years old whose nationality I will not expose who occupied his entire time eating when there was anything to eat and thinking about the next meal between times. [Laughter.] I don't say he put his mind to it for he didn't seem to have any mind. When sent out from the table he used to go up into the smoking-cabin and lie around there asking foolish questions. This boy never asked a question in the whole voyage that indicated the presence of knowledge of any kind whatever and he came to be a perfect nuisance to everybody and we tried all possible ways of crushing him and make him stop asking these questions.

But as I said Canon Kingsley reminds me of one occasion when I came up into the smoking room, in very ill humor—not in the humor a man ought to be in to listen patiently to silly questions. The question the boy began with was aggravating because anybody knows that the first place a man goes to when he reaches London is Westminster Abbey and the next place is Shakspeare's burial ground, and that this boy should ask me deliberately, and with such innocence about him as he had, if, when I was in London, I went to Westminster Abbey. That is enough to make a man frantic. I said "What was it you said?" "When you were in London were you at Westminster Abbey?" "No," I said, "I stopped at Langham's Hotel." [Laughter.] "But," he said "It is not a hotel." [Laughter.] "Well," I said "What is it?" "Why, it is a church." I said "A minute ago you said it was an abbey." "Well," he said "It's an abbey and a church too." I said, "I don't know about that. You appear to be getting confused in your statements, how can it be an abbey and a church at the same time?" [Laughter.] There was another gentleman sitting there whose nationality I will not mention who said it was perfectly true that an abbey and a church were the same thing. I said I was much obliged to him [laughter] and asked him "Where is this place, this church? is it in London?" "Oh yes," he says, "of course it is in London. You know where the Parliament buildings are? It is part of the Parliament." "No," said he "What has Parliament got to do with it? the abbey is close by it." Said I, "Do you know how far Westminster Abbey is from Langham's Hotel where I lived?" He said, "I suppose you know it is some distance." Said I "Of course it is some distance." "Five or six miles," said he. "But," said I, "didn't you suppose I knew better than to get up early in the morning and travel four or five miles to church, when there were plenty of churches all around?" He said "I didn't expect you to go to church." Said I, "What did you expect me to do?" He said, "Look at the monuments and things, monuments of everybody that has done anything and is dead. Their bodies are buried there." I said "Do you mean to say that they actually take up the planks and bury men under the floor?" He said there were no planks there. I said "Do they bury them right under the seats?" He said, "Of course they do." Said I "Is that healthy?" [Laughter.] "Well," he said, "I don't know whether it was healthy or not. They do it in all churches." I said it was a curious custom. I never heard anything like it. If any of my friends were in Westminster Abbey I should not want people sitting round on their tombstones. [Laughter.] He said "You didn't hear the canon, then?" "I don't remember," said I. "I am a man of peace and don't know anything about artillery anyway." [Laughter and applause.] By this time the boy had not yet waked up but the rest of the company which had gathered around had and so we stopped the fun. As there is no moral in the anecdote I won't attempt to put any to it. But as I said in the absence of having a speech to make to you I thought I would simply tell an anecdote in honor of Canon Kingsley. [Applause.]—Speech at the Press dinner in Boston.

A Cat Story.—A very serious affair says the Pall Mall Gazette, has just taken place on Mount Lebanon caused by some cat. It appears that his Excellency, Halet Pasha lately sent a present of cats to the Sultan and received a snuff box in return. The Commander-in-Chief thereupon set his officers to catch any long haired cats they could find in order also to send a similar present to the Sultan. Sufficient cats having been captured, Ressa Bey, the son of his Excellency Izza Pasha started for Constantinople with his precious cargo. The snow however, fell deeply on the mountain, and the wagons conveying the cats could no longer proceed. The cats were then transferred to mules, but the mules also being unable to get through the snow, the cats were intrusted to six men. At about 30 miles from Beyrout Ressa Bey and his cats met 50 soldiers under the command of Yusaef Agha. The officer saluted Ressa Bey and passed on, but when the cat bearers were at a distance of 150 yards from the soldiers, the latter turned round and deliberately fired on them. The cats were for the moment in great danger, as one bullet passed through a box in which several of them were contained. Fortunately they all escaped untouched, but one of the men was killed on the spot, one died the next day and three others were dangerously wounded. About 200 cartridge cases which had been used were picked out of the snow on the following day and the affair is now under investigation. As the cats were not injured, it is improbable that any serious notice will be taken of the contretemps, unless to risk the life of a cat intended for the Sultan is considered as heinous an offense as in the days of Howel the Good A. D. 938 when by a Welsh law quoted by Pennant it was enacted that if any one stole or killed the cat that guarded the Prince's granary he was to forfeit a milk ewe, its fleece and lamb or as much wheat as, when poured on the cat suspended by its tail the head touching the floor would form a heap high enough to cover the tip of its tail.

A Lover with an Eye to the "Main Chance."—The following story of a young man who, until recently lived in Lawrence, Mass. is told by the American, of that city. He was engaged to be married to a young lady of Lawrence, and in the ardor of his affection made a number of presents. Two or three weeks since the young lady died after a few days illness and the grief of the sadly stricken suitor was very sad to contemplate. Everything that had belonged to her was very dear to him, rendered doubly so by her untimely taking off. He prized the few tributes he had given her to such a degree that he couldn't think for a moment of leaving them with her family. He came with a box before the funeral occurred, collected them very carefully, nailed them up and forwarded them by express to his home. The sister of the deceased expressed a desire that she might be allowed to retain some small souvenir, and the disconsolate lover suggested that perhaps she would like a muff. If so he was ready to sell it. He wouldn't be mean; it cost him $15 and seeing it was her she might have it for $10. She produced the money, took the muff and the lover after the funeral ceremony departed—doubtless to bestow the presents he had regained on some new object of affection, providing of course that they are to revert to him in case of death.

A Fatal Leap.—A Boston dispatch of March 4th says: Abby K. Merriam, daughter of George Merriam, publisher of Webster's Dictionary at Springfield, Massachusetts, jumped from the fourth story of the building known as the Swedish Movement Cure, on Madison Avenue at two o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that she has been suffering from temporary insanity for some time past. Her death was instantaneous.

[illegible] the question [illegible] the votes [illegible]

The capital now employed in the national bank [illegible] Mr Sherman [illegible] and amended by Mr Sherman increases the [illegible] $400,000,000 [illegible] addition to the banking capital of the country will be $20,000,000.

The addition to the greenback circulation which the House is sure to authorize is $44,000,000, of which all but about $1,000,000 is now in circulation. The total increase by both [illegible] will therefore be $[illegible] and $[illegible]. The amount now actually if not legally in use [illegible] greenback circulation [illegible] originally $400,000,000. McCulloch while Secretary of the Treasury reduced [illegible] at this leaving the amount [illegible] at $356,000,000. Secretary Richardson claims the right to [illegible] the $44,000,000 thus retired and has already issued $26,000,000 of it, and it seems certain that Congress will legalize this and restore the [illegible] limit of $400,000,000 to the greenback circulation.

If free banking should not be established it is safe we think to conclude that the increase above detailed will be agreed to and that hereafter we may fix the limit of the circulating medium of the country at $800,000,000. The national banks will have a capital of $400,000,000 but the circulation will be 90 per cent of this sum. The fractional currency however is over $40,000,000 and the grand total consequently will be as we have indicated—greenbacks $400,000,000, national bank notes $360,000,000, fractional currency $4[illegible]. Total, $803,000,000.

Mr Sherman's scheme to transfer to the West and South from New England the right to establish new national banks with capital to the extent of $20,000,000, reducing to that extent the amount now invested in national banks in the New England States, does not strike us favorably as a measure of relief to the Southern and Western States. These sections need more capital much worse than the right to invest it, and until they have it there seems but little use in devising ways and means for employing it.

It is amazing what strange absurd and dangerous propositions are brought forward for consideration on financial subjects. One Senator seriously proposes that the Government borrow one hundred millions of gold and resume specie payments. Another proposes that it resume anyhow in 187[illegible]. Some propose to take $25,000,000 of currency at once from the East and distribute it over the West, thus creating stringency at the East. We at times despair of anything good coming from Congress, but fortunately the more practical men govern and popular sentiment makes itself felt even in the Senate.

New York Imports and Exports.

A few weeks ago we gave a summarized statement based on statistics collated from the New York Commercial Journal, showing that the imports at that port for last year excluding specie were forty six millions less and the exports sixty four millions more than in the year 1872, making a difference in the balance of trade at that port of $100,000,000. The returns for January of the present year show a continued change in the same direction. The imports at New York for January 1874 were only $30,310,6[illegible]9 against $37,[illegible]3,691 for the same month of last year while the shipments of produce and merchandise amounted to $2[illegible],45[illegible],638 against $20,[illegible] in the same month of last year and $18,[illegible] in 1872. These are auspicious signs for our foreign trade. Usually the returns at New York include about two-thirds of the total foreign imports of the United States and only about 40 per cent of the exports both exclusive of specie. The proportion of export has increased so that of late 40 to 48 per cent of the total exports have gone from that district. But for the first time in the history of this country have the exports from New York for any given period approximated the imports.

The imports of foreign dry goods at the port of New York for week before last were $3,9[illegible] and the amount marketed, $4,0[illegible]. The imports for the corresponding period of last year were $5,[illegible] and for 1872 $4,451,783. For the first half of the current fiscal year the balance of trade with foreign countries has been greatly in favor of our own, the excess of exports over imports even reckoning the former at their gold value being upwards of $[illegible]0,000,000.

Emigration in 1873.

The report of the Commissioners of Emigration for the year 1873 shows an alien immigration into the port of New York for that year of 266,818 persons, being a falling off of 27,7[illegible] from the returns for the year ending December 31, 1872, which was an exceptional year for immigration, showing the largest returns since 1854 excepting two years—1866 and 1867. As to nationalities England has decreased 3,[illegible] and Germany 21,4[illegible]. Ireland is almost the same as last year there being a decrease of 1[illegible] in her emigration. Scotland has decreased 6[illegible], Sweden 838 and France 3,[illegible] while Norway has increased 1,[illegible]78.

Home Produce Market.

Just now the general produce market is somewhat depressed, but then we should not always expect high prices. Returns during the past fall and winter were on the whole more favorable to producers than has been the case for years. And never perhaps has so small a percentage been lost in freights and commissions which often bring nominally fair profits down to little or nothing for the farmers. A San Francisco paper says—and the remark applies here as well—that the present state of the market is only due after all to the season. About this time of year better information is obtained as to stocks on hand and probable requirements than can be had in the first flush of excitement after harvests. We think it reasonable to suppose that with regard to grain the majority of the farmers have been able to dispose of the larger part of their crops during the rule of better rates, judging from the range of receipts in this city, which have varied all during the fall to meet the Liverpool fluctuation.

WHEAT—The bulk of European shipments [illegible] made this season is over, and we hear of no new charters during two weeks past. Hence exporters are doing but little, and transactions during the week under review have been confined to lots purchased to fill prior contracts. Current quotations are $1 [illegible]. The California and Liverpool quotations indicate rather more firmness.

FLOUR—The California market is pretty well supplied with flour from this State, and we are reliably informed that there are large stocks in store in San Francisco awaiting sale, consequently shipments thither are falling off and its stocks are increasing in consequence. Millers are running at about half time. We quote extra standard at $[illegible] bbl outside and [illegible] super fine $4 [illegible].

OATS—For two months past there has been no important change in rates, though at times the demand has been more brisk than at other. At present the supply is full and the trade [illegible] bushel for good lots.

FEED—There is [illegible] with a good local demand we anticipate [illegible] this week. The backwardness of the season keeps up a brisk call. We quote bran at $14 [illegible] shorts $[illegible]; chops middlings etc. $[illegible] oil cake meal [illegible].

BARLEY—The San Francisco market [illegible] excited by an unusual demand for shipment [illegible]. The surplus in our State is unimportant. The few lots received command [illegible] quality.

HAY—The Hay market is brisk and good. Timothy is in best demand. We quote [illegible] timothy at $14 ₩ ton. Loose do $1[illegible].

POTATOES—For a week or two past there has been quite a demand [illegible] for the San Francisco market and several large shipments have [illegible] but it is doubtful [illegible] of the inquiry in that direction [illegible] our State of choice [illegible] at [illegible] likely to remain firm until the receipt of the new crop. Quotations are given at [illegible] for best 40 to [illegible] inferior.

ONIONS—There are only [illegible] buyers in the market [illegible] about $1 [illegible].

APPLES—A decrease in [illegible] best varieties are well [illegible] in the market bring [illegible] cents [illegible] box.

BACON—[illegible] for San Francisco [illegible] at all and the limited [illegible] smaller than the average [illegible].

LARD—The supply of [illegible] but a fair quality in kegs is [illegible] 12½c in kegs [illegible].

BUTTER—[illegible] tea and fair price for [illegible] table use [illegible] lots misc[illegible].

CHEESE—The [illegible] the product of our State dairy [illegible] shipments are made. Our quotations are agents rates—[illegible].

EGGS—The supply is increasing [illegible] doz. would not be a matter of surprise at an early day. Present quotations however are [illegible] with perhaps a chance [illegible] for fresh supplies.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand for [illegible] up this is quite encouraging to holders [illegible] rates ₩ lb are not high. Plums with pits are dull at 6c [illegible] pitless better sale at 13@14c ₩ lb.

POULTRY—The supply is adequate and prices are somewhat lower good lots going at [illegible] to $[illegible] ₩ doz. Other poultry unchanged.

BEEF CATTLE—The arrivals are not large in numbers and prices for good fat steers are firm at [illegible] ₩ lb while poor cattle are dull sale at 4c [illegible].

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts are light, and with a fair local inquiry trade is active at rates well sustained at [illegible] ₩ lb.

MUTTON SHEEP—An advance in prices is noticed [illegible] demand [illegible].

HIDES—There is no change in [illegible] the receipts [illegible].

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854 for the treatment of [illegible] and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc., Diseases of [illegible] Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he [illegible] from visiting the principal [illegible] and has resumed practice at his [illegible] Kearney street corner of Commercial [illegible] where [illegible] patients and [illegible] [illegible] remedies and has [illegible] increased facilities for the alleviation of human sufferers.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female [illegible] who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence [illegible] into the system! Look at the pallid cheek [illegible] and disfigured faces, broken down constitutions, disqualifying them from the pleasures of marriage or the enjoyments of [illegible] Let parents, guardians, [illegible] tend to those who are suffering with any of these [illegible] malady—see that [illegible] before it be too late, [illegible] DR. GIBBON a [illegible] diseases [illegible] without [illegible] injurious drugs. [illegible] in the welfare [illegible] [illegible] intended [illegible] their skill in curing [illegible] in a few days, imposing upon the public [illegible] the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of this solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence practiced by the youth of both sexes to an unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz.: low countenance, dark spots under the eyes, the head ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintance, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania, and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON in response [illegible] gives the patient a written instrument binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure or no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating the symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the [illegible] with full and plain directions [illegible]. By sending [illegible] through Wells Fargo & Co. a package [illegible] will be forwarded to [illegible] part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus swindles to ensnare the unwary. Some of these so-called doctors' names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places [illegible] trades and became doctors to work [illegible] trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible] carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The [illegible] way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry [illegible] cost you nothing and may save you many [illegible] for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting titles, certificates, pretended patents [illegible] Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he [illegible] to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box [illegible]

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the OREGONIAN.
